On Thursday, I had the opportunity to speak to Ball State head coach Stan Parrish for an exclusive one-on-one interview before he brings the Cardinals to Iowa City this weekend for their game with the 18th-ranked Iowa Hawkeyes.

Ball State enters the contest on a two-game losing streak, with the most recent loss being at the hands of another Big Ten opponent in Purdue on Sept. 18.

Parrish is in his second year as Ball State's head coach and in his sixth season with the program. He also has ties to the Big Ten as an assistant with both Purdue and Michigan.

Below is audio from my interview with Parrish. A special thanks to Joe Hernandez at Ball State for making this interview possible.
