

Iowa-Creighton tickets now on sale

By Brendan Stiles

HawkeyeDrive.com

Season-ticket holders for Iowa men's basketball that are also National I-Club members at either the Kinnick Society or Champion Hawk levels can now order tickets for the Hawkeyes' Nov. 20 contest against Creighton that will take place at Wells Fargo Arena in Des Moines, the UI announced in a release on Thursday. This game is part of a four-game exempt tournament called The Dale Howard Classic that also features Iowa home games against Chicago State on Nov. 11, North Carolina A&T on Nov. 14, and Campbell on Nov. 23.

According to the release, all remaining season-ticket holders and National I-Club members can begin purchasing tickets for this game on Aug. 25, which is next Thursday. Tickets are slated to go on sale to the general public in September, and will range between $20-$35.

While the release states that no tip-off time has been set for Iowa's game against Creighton, a release from Creighton about its non-conference basketball schedule revealed the Nov. 20 contest is scheduled to start at 2 p.m. Central in the state capital.