This week, seven former Iowa football players will be at Lucas Oil Stadium in Indianapolis, Ind., participating at the 2012 NFL Combine.

The group consists of four offensive players and three defensive players. The seven invitees are Marvin McNutt, Adam Gettis, Riley Reiff, Markus Zusevics, Mike Daniels, Tyler Nielsen and Shaun Prater.

All four days of workouts at the NFL Combine will feature at least one former Hawkeye. Each player is slated to be in Indianapolis for four days.

Iowa's Pro Day has been set for March 19, according to nfl.com. The 2012 NFL Draft will start on April 26 and conclude April 28.

Below is the schedule for when each player will participate in workouts. The NFL Combine officially starts Feb. 22, with the first set of workouts taking place Feb. 25.

Feb. 25, 2012: DAY ONE – Gettis, Reiff, Zusevics

Feb. 26, 2012: DAY TWO – McNutt

Feb. 27, 2012: DAY THREE – Daniels, Nielsen
