IOWA CITY, Iowa – The Iowa Hawkeyes held their annual “Kids Day” practice on Saturday at Kinnick Stadium, which was open to fans and media alike.

Below are six videos from Saturday’s practice, five of which include footage throughout the 11-on-11 (or “live”) portion and one video at the bottom featuring Iowa head coach Kirk Ferentz sharing his thoughts on how Saturday’s practice and the first two weeks of fall camp have gone for his team. One item of note from Ferentz is that junior fullback Adam Cox will miss the entire 2014 season after suffering a torn ACL earlier in the week.
